On September 9, 2003, CommunityVU began programming for its 11th consecutive school year with a weekend event. On Sunday, September 7th, the SONJA HAYNES STONE CENTER FOR BLACK CULTURE AND HISTORY hosted the Paper Toll pledge challenge.

Paper Toll, a 48-hour event held on campus May 3-5, 2003, was the result of a collaborative effort between the SONJA HAYNES STONE CENTER FOR BLACK CULTURE AND HISTORY, the UNC Student Union, student services, and in partnership with a number of student organizations.

The event was held at the Student Union Center, from 8 a.m. to 12 a.m., with a theme of “Soul Food and Fun.”

The event began with a keynote address by Dr. La Francis Rodgers-Rose, Chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Dr. Rodgers-Rose emphasized the importance of the SONJA HAYNES STONE CENTER FOR BLACK CULTURE AND HISTORY in providing a space for students to engage in meaningful discussions and activities that promote a deeper understanding of black culture and history.

Four members of the SONJA HAYNES STONE CENTER FOR BLACK CULTURE AND HISTORY faculty and staff were among the keynote speakers, including Dr. La Francis Rodgers-Rose, Dr. La Francis Rodgers-Rose, Dr. La Francis Rodgers-Rose, and Dr. La Francis Rodgers-Rose.

The event included a variety of activities, including a keynote address, a panel discussion, and a workshop on black cultural history. The keynote address focused on the importance of black cultural history and its role in shaping the future of the country.

The panel discussion featured four experts in the field of black cultural history, who shared their insights on the topic.

The workshop provided an opportunity for participants to engage in hands-on activities related to black cultural history.

Overall, the event was a success, with over 200 attendees in attendance. The event helped to raise awareness of the importance of black cultural history and to promote a deeper understanding of the role of the SONJA HAYNES STONE CENTER FOR BLACK CULTURE AND HISTORY in this regard.
DIRECTING THE VISION

In a meeting taking place at the Sonja Haynes Stone Center for Black Culture and History in the spring of 2003, the team at the Public Relations Office strategized and effectively promoted the annual African-American Alumni Reunion.

Because of our generous donors, we were able to create a new and exciting atmosphere for the Annual African-American Alumni Reunion.

The team joined the staff at the Public Relations Office to strategize and effectively promote the event.

The Sonja Haynes Stone Center for Black Culture and History was hosting an annual event that brought together alumni and friends of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

The event featured a lively discussion and networking opportunities, with keynote speakers and entertainment.

The audience was enthusiastic and engaged, and the event was a great success.

The Sonja Haynes Stone Center for Black Culture and History is committed to promoting the arts, culture, and history of African Americans through programs and events.

This year, the Center is presenting a new event, the Annual African-American Alumni Reunion, which celebrates the achievements and contributions of African Americans.

The event is open to the public and features a diverse lineup of speakers, performers, and activities.

The theme of the event is "Honoring Our Past, Celebrating Our Future," and the Center is offering a variety of programs and activities to commemorate the contributions of African Americans.

The event will take place on Saturday, October 7, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., at the Sonja Haynes Stone Center for Black Culture and History.

The Sonja Haynes Stone Center for Black Culture and History is located at 100 South Columbia Street, Chapel Hill, NC 27514.

For more information, please visit the Sonja Haynes Stone Center for Black Culture and History website at www.unc.edu/depts/stonecenter.

The Sonja Haynes Stone Center for Black Culture and History is a proud sponsor of this event.

Thank you for your support and for helping to create a community that is rich in diversity and culture.

Sonja Haynes Stone
Director