The Sean Douglas Leadership Fund

at The Sonja Haynes Stone Center for Black Culture and History

Major Sean Cedric "Six" Douglas, of Lansing, KS, attended UNC Chapel Hill and earned a Bachelor of Arts in Economics in 1995. While at Carolina, he joined Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. and participated in the Army ROTC (Reserve Officers' Training Corps), and became a Commissioned Officer in the United States Army soon after graduation. He proudly served his country for 13 years.

Major Douglas' life goal and dream was to fly and serve. He emanated leadership and discipline traits that served him well at Carolina, and on through his career as a Blackhawk helicopter pilot with the U.S. Army where he specialized in Aviation at the time of his passing.

The fellowship provides an opportunity for undergraduate students interested in gaining practical experience in planning and managing arts, cultural and academic programs to serve as an intern at the Stone Center while working closely with the Center's Director. The intern will participate in various Center activities that may include participation in staff, Board and other key meetings, working on specially designed projects, assisting the Director in drafting project, program and special reports and serving as the Stone Center representative at selected gatherings.

Interns will receive a stipend for completing the program. The internship covers a 10-week period (September-November or January-April) and is open to all registered UNC sophomores, juniors and seniors in good academic standing.

The deadline to apply is Wednesday, March 18, 2020 at 5pm. Applicants for the Sean Douglas Leadership Fellows program will be selected on the basis of a combination of factors including scholarship, record of campus and off-campus participation in service/social justice activities, clarity in describing their objectives for participating in the program and quality of recommendations submitted in support of their application. Applicants must submit the following:

- A brief narrative of no more than four pages that addresses the criteria described above;
- An official or un-official transcript (you should also include a resume outlining your extracurricular activities, awards and other supporting background information);
- Two letters of recommendation (from faculty or staff familiar with you and your work)

Submit your application electronically at stonecenter@unc.edu or you may hand deliver to Christopher Wallace in Room 215 of the Stone Center. For more information, please call 919-962-9001.
